Soccer Without Borders (SWB) is a non-profit organization that uses soccer as a vehicle for positive change, providing newcomer refugee, asylee and immigrant youth with a toolkit to overcome obstacles to growth, inclusion, and personal success. Our programs provide youth who are traditionally excluded from extracurricular opportunities with a platform for positive engagement, an avenue for personal growth, and a toolkit for a brighter future.

About SWB Colorado
Our vision is to build a more inclusive world through soccer, where all youth have the opportunity to reach their inherent potential. Newcomer youth are one of the most vulnerable populations in the United States today, facing complex barriers to integration, academic success, and leading happy and healthy lives. Our model is rooted in research, which helps us understand the complex factors that affect the youth, families, and communities with whom we work. SWB’s model includes four organizational lenses: access and inclusion, health, youth development, and trauma-informed practices, each representing a body of research that informs our program design. Our programs integrate the three pillars of soccer, education, and community, supporting our participants to grow, integrate, and be successful.

SWB Colorado works in Greeley and Aurora, serving middle and high school students during the school year, and elementary, middle, and high school students in the summer months. Middle and high school students participate in after-school soccer programming, along with academic workshops and individual support and case management throughout the year. In addition to these direct service programs, SWB has a mentor program that matches volunteers with youth and their families to help them integrate into Colorado’s larger community and to serve their individual needs. This position is based out of Aurora, where SWB has worked with newcomer community since 2019 and serves more than 150 newcomer youth annually. The Program Coordinator is based at Aurora West College Preparatory Academy, our partner school, and runs programming within the school, while also coordinating the larger Aurora team and programming.
